

Apprenticeship 101: Building a Foundation for the Future

Are you struggling to fill positions OR looking for licensed applicants?

Richard Madden will address the misconceptions of apprenticeships and take a look at the unlimited number of occupations that can be developed through apprenticeships. Learn the steps to build registered apprenticeships with low cost training opportunities to move your business forward. He will assist employers with the start to finish process of building an apprenticeship program that works for your business.

Speaker: Richard Madden is employed by the US Department of Labor, Office of Apprenticeship since May 2010. He is responsible for developing apprenticeship programs throughout Central/Western Iowa, as well as giving technical assistance to established apprenticeship programs.
